

SANTA MONICA BUS STOP, OIL, 24 X 30.

Scott W. Prior

"This is one of those paintings that took me awhile to finish, meaning that I had to put it away to let my brain marinate on it. After setting it aside for a few months, I was able to get back into it again and remember the frustration the people were feeling while waiting for the bus. At the time there was a bus strike going on in L.A., so they had to wait for a long time. Having been there myself, waiting and waiting for the bus just to show up, I could feel their frustration. To make things worse, there's a bus coming from the opposite direction."
